

The Independent Thinker's "CHEMTRAILS" FACT SHEET

Have you noticed airplanes leaving white plumes in the sky? Often in grids, these trails widen and spread out, forming layers that look like clouds. Soon the sky is overcast. Here are 10 points to consider about this phenomenon:

- 1. Geoscientists are currently proposing ways to manage solar radiation and climate change with "stratospheric aerosols"—the dispersal or spraying of sulfates, aluminum and other fine particulates in our atmosphere.
- 2. In spite of such proposals, jets that spray aerosols in the sky have been seen for over a decade in many countries of the world. Yet governments and official agencies have repeatedly denied this activity.
- 3. Environmental testing reveals the content of the fallout to include fibers, metal particulates and biological elements, many of which are microscopic. These micro-particles enter our bodies, eluding our immune systems and impairing our health. Some of the particles are artificially engineered and are self-replicating.

4. The metals in the aerosols are ionized (electrically charged). The air we live in is now a plasma—able to conduct energy. It has been weaponized.

5. The spraying of aerosols is saturating our atmosphere with particulate matter that has whitened our once-blue sky. Visibility on the earth has been greatly reduced. A direct, data-based correlation exists between particulate levels in the air and our mortality.

6. Dangerous levels of aluminum and barium are being found in soil and water samples taken nationwide. Both elements are highly toxic. Tree and plant life is rapidly declining, and human rates of respiratory and neurological ailments have risen exponentially, with asthma at near-epidemic levels in children.

7. Aerosol programs are a global covert operation. They are capable of affecting and controlling storms and the earth's electrical balance. They can manipulate radio frequencies and the electromagnetic spectrum for military and surveillance purposes. They can alter human awareness and behavior.

8. As geoscientists now admit, aerosol spraying forms artificial clouds that spread to create a “sky shield.” This sky shield reduces sunlight, and has resulted in a phenomenon called “global dimming.” According to NASA, the world has already seen a 20% loss of sunlight.

9. HAARP (High Frequency Active Auroral Research Program) is a military surveillance operation located in Alaska that generates electromagnetic frequencies. Several such facilities exist on the planet today. Their activity, combined with the spraying of aerosols, may in fact be responsible for “climate change”—a phenomenon officially attributed to runaway “global warming.” Our environment is deliberately being altered.

10. To date, such programs have been operating without our informed consent. Once formally proposed, an unsuspecting public may accept them as a necessary means for weather modification and our future “sustainability.” But their real agenda may be the nanotechnological control of biology, ecology and the earth.

Look up! Your world is being artificially created.
